

Dear family and friends,

As Réka's mother, I would like to warmly welcome everyone on this beautiful and joyful day. I am so happy that we can all be here together, in this wonderful place, sharing the happiness of this amazing couple.

I never imagined that my daughter's husband would come from another country. But today, I can honestly say that I couldn't be happier about it.

Since Réka was twelve years old, she has dreamed of living in America. It was as if something was calling her there, as if deep down she already knew that this is where she would find the person she was meant to share her life with.

She has now lived in America for eight years, and she has achieved so many wonderful things.

When she left Hungary, it was one of the hardest moments for me as a mother. My heart was full of worry, but I was also incredibly proud of her - for having the courage to follow her dreams and make them come true.

I remember when she first came home to Hungary, and she and Andy were still only friends. They would talk on the phone for hours, sometimes until the early morning. Even then, I could see something special between them. I knew that Andy was the person who truly belonged by her side.

Later, Réka told me that Andy was not only the love of her life, but also her soulmate.

Andy is a person with endless patience and wisdom. He is someone who makes Réka feel safe, loved, and protected. He always takes care of her, supports her, and knows how to bring peace to her heart, even in difficult moments.

He is the person she can truly build a life with. Together, by supporting each other and bringing out the best in one another, I believe there is nothing they cannot achieve.

Unfortunately, I do not speak Spanish or English. (Although I have tried to learn English, I just cannot say that I have been very successful yet. So, I cannot have long conversations with Andy, but I do not need many words to know what kind of person he is.

I have seen his kindness, his care, and his love. And every time I have spent time with them, I have felt what a wonderful person he truly is.

They share the same values, and for both of them, family is one of the most important things in life.

I would like to say thank you to Andy's mother, Maria, and Andy's father, Adrián. I truly believe Adrián is here with us today, sharing this special moment with us.

Thank you for raising Andy to become the man he is today - the kind of man I can trust with my daughter for the rest of her life.

Thank you for welcoming Réka into your family from the very beginning. She found a second home and a second family with you. You gave me the greatest comfort a mother can have: knowing that my daughter was loved, cared for, and safe, even thousands of miles away from us.

Maria,

I know that you have always loved my daughter as your own, and I know that you still do. And today, we welcome Andy into our family with the same love. So, what did Andy find in Réka? A true treasure.

Réka is loyal, faithful, kind-hearted, selfless, and deeply devoted to her family. Time has never changed who she is, and she has never forgotten her roots.

She is determined, talented, strong, passionate, and an incredible woman - who today becomes an incredible wife.

Life with Réka is never boring. She brings energy, adventure, and unforgettable moments into the lives of the people around her. And even with the little challenges that come with life (because those exist too 😊), she makes every day brighter.

My dear Réka,

I know you already feel this without me saying it, but wherever life takes you, you will always be in my heart. Every single day. Every single moment.

Réka and Andy,

No matter where you live or where life takes you, you can always count on me.

I wish you a lifetime filled with love, happiness, and beautiful memories together. And I hope you will always share that happiness with the families who love you so much.

I love you both.
