

LUKÁCS RÉKA,

Since the day I found out about your existence, my life was already destined to become more amazing than I could have ever imagined.

Thank God your account spammed mine and I sent you that message offering you a photoshoot during your vacation in LA.

I remember that a few days before we met, you posted a story in front of the Actors Studio in Hollywood where you showed your genuine personality so naturally. Your smile, and everything about that video, was so captivating that I honestly watched it like 50 times.

A few days later, I was nervous to finally see you. The moment I laid my eyes on you, I knew you had to be mine. I remember thinking, "I don't care how, but she has to be part of my life." Luckily, that same day you said you wanted me to show you some real Mexican tacos. But let's skip the part where you ate them with a fork and knife.

Out of all the things you could have been in my life, I hit the jackpot and got you as mi media naranja... my wife.

You are the treasure that came into my life without any expectations. I wasn't looking for you at that time, but God knew I needed you.

I'm so happy we took things slowly, one step at a time, because it's not easy having two completely different backgrounds and facing all the challenges we had along the way. But those challenges allowed us to grow and build something so strong that I know will last forever.

Over these past few years, I've discovered a whole new way of living by your side. Everything feels like growth, genuine happiness, and a constant desire to experience everything life has to offer with you.

They say, "Behind every great man, there is a great woman," and that is exactly who you are.

We make an incredible team, but what I love the most is knowing that nothing else really matters as long as we have each other.

Thank you for always staying true to yourself and never changing to please others, or even me. I love every version of you... even if it drives me a little crazy sometimes.

I could definitely go on for hours, just like those 10 hour phone calls we used to have back in the day. But I think it's clear as day that you still make me feel like a kid on Christmas morning, and I can't wait for everything the future has in store for us.

Continue being the incredibly generous, thoughtful, smart, loving, gorgeous, and caring woman you have always been.

I promise to support your dreams as if they were my own.

I promise to be whatever you require me to be.

I promise to keep exploring the world with you, creating memories and chasing every adventure life has to offer. Life with you is simply “too much heaven”

And remember... if you're a bird, I'm a bird.

Nagyon szeretlek, gyönyörűm.
